

EntropySoft announces the availability of its new Alfresco ECM connector.

Paris, 20th May 2007, EntropySoft the European leader of the ECI (Enterprise Content Integration) market, specialist in the integration of structured and unstructured data announced the availability of its EntropySoft web parts Alfresco ECM.

This technology enables all Alfresco ECP platforms to be connected to the EntropySoft Engine in a few clicks. As soon as they are connected, all Alfresco's content is available for the EntropySoft Content Federation and EntropySoft Content ETL solutions. EntropySoft offers the ability to re-organize access to all content scattered inside the organization including Alfresco repositories and the ability to manage all content exchange between Alfresco and the rest of the information system.

EntropySoft ECI is an integration and presentation platform. This platform is designed for optimising the management of unstructured company data. This optimisation is carried out in two ways.

From back-office to client applications: EntropySoft is able to separate the service offered to the user from the information system architecture. This solution enables the reorganisation of the access to all company's documents. Using EntropySoft offers you a unique point of access wherever the information is located. EntropySoft allows you to concentrate on the business logic without having to worry about the technological components of the back office, thanks to EntropySoft Content Federation solution.

From back office to back-office: EntropySoft has the capacity to industrialise transfers between all content repositories of the extended enterprise (the organization, its partners, its clients). These transfers can be needed by a business process or simply by the deployment of a new application. EntropySoft brings a solution to the dispersion of content and the heterogeneous systems. EntropySoft structures and industrialises content exchanges with EntropySoft Content ETL solution.

With this new connector, EntropySoft is continuing to transform radically the approach of users and organisations in the management of content. EntropySoft helps you optimize the use of your content assets.
